ABOUT ME

Game Designer with nearly 4 years of experience across 10+ shipped titles. I believe prototyping is the most important phase in development, and my technical knowledge of C# and the Unity Engine helps me quickly prototype my ideas and test them with the team early on. I've worked directly with clients and publishers, and many of those relationships turned into repeat work. In a team, I like being direct and clear with feedback, and I'm always happy to get the same in return.
